Hi Vanessa, give us an overview of your your venue and what you offer for event organisers

Welcome to Bolesworth – a unique destination in the heart of the Cheshire countryside, just 15 minutes from Chester.

Far from ordinary, Bolesworth offers a dynamic mix of indoor and outdoor spaces that provide the perfect canvas to bring any event to life. With a 500-seat marquee and expansive outdoor areas for up to 30,000 visitors, it's ideal for corporate away days, brand activations, festivals, private parties, and gala dinners.

Expect stunning views, great infrastructure, and a dedicated, hands-on events team.

Tell us a bit about your role and how your team look after your clients so well

I've been with Bolesworth for just under a year as Marketing & Business Development Manager. My role is all about raising the profile of Bolesworth as a premier destination for events and filming location, within our 6,500-acre estate.

Bolesworth has a strong reputation for delivering exceptional events, and we're now concentrating our attention on more venue hire opportunities.

I'm working to position the estate as a go-to destination for everything from brand activations and corporate events to large-scale outdoor experiences.

I also get involved in our flagship event, Bolesworth International – a world-class equestrian show that welcomes thousands of visitors over two weeks each summer. It's an exciting and diverse role.

Why are you guys such a good option for event planners to consider?

Bolesworth isn't your standard stately home setup. Yes, we've got the sweeping views and historic charm but that's just the backdrop. What really sets Bolesworth apart is its attitude: bold, flexible, and unapologetically creative.

One day, it can be the setting for an exclusive CEO retreat and the next, it's alive with the buzz of a 25,000-person festival. Whether you're planning a luxury brand activation, a glitzy gala dinner, or an intimate strategy session for ten, Bolesworth transforms to fit your vision – not the other way around. I think of us as a creative playground with a serious infrastructure – first class infrastructure, designed with large scale events in mind - making event build and delivery seamless, and an expert, hands-on team that isn't afraid to push boundaries right alongside you.

So if you're an event planner tired of the same old venues, and you want a space that embraces ambition and welcomes the unexpected – Bolesworth might just be the wild card you didn't know you needed!

What's new at Bolesworth?

We're excited to be launching Stay at Bolesworth – our brand-new collection of holiday lets! First up is Liongate Lodge, a luxury hideaway in the private grounds of Bolesworth Castle.

It's the perfect spot for a romantic escape and a great base to explore Cheshire, North Wales and Shropshire. We'll be welcoming our first guests in June, with two more lovely properties opening in July.

I have the privilege of bringing great people to the club – whether that be for private events, providing ‘a home for whilst you are in town’ for our residents or helping to develop the membership community.

Jessica Barwell
Sales Manager

Hi Jessica, give us an overview of your venue and what you offer for event organisers

The Other House combines the comforts of home, with the luxurious interiors and sophistication of a boutique hotel together with the exclusivity of a members' club.

Set in the heart of South Kensington (and soon to open our second venue in Covent Garden) the residents' club offers an plethora of event and meeting spaces, including two members lounges, The Owl & Monkey cocktail bar, PDRs and restaurant

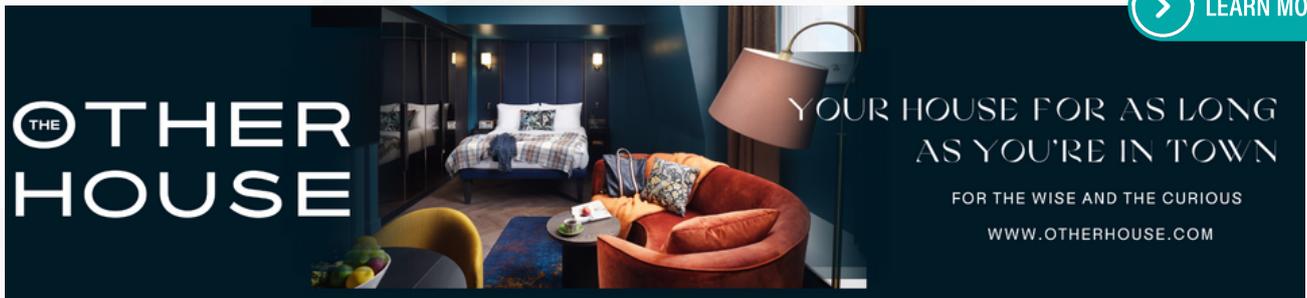

Perfect for groups that are looking for somewhere to stay as well with 236 club flats and state-of-the-art wellbeing and fitness facilities. Hosting a variety of events from fashion shows, private pool parties, weddings and investor pitching evenings – The Other House provides the perfect backdrop to bring your event to life.

Tell us a bit about your role and how your team look after your clients so well

I have the privilege of bringing great people to the club – whether that be for private events, providing ‘a home for whilst you are in town’ for our residents or helping to develop the membership community.

Connection always plays a key part in what I do and I thrive on working with the team to help create an environment where not only are they getting an exquisite experience, but there is value in who they meet and connect with at an event.

Why are you guys such a good option for event planners to consider?

What truly sets The Other House apart is not only its enchanting maximalist interiors but its connection to the heart of London's most vibrant neighborhoods.

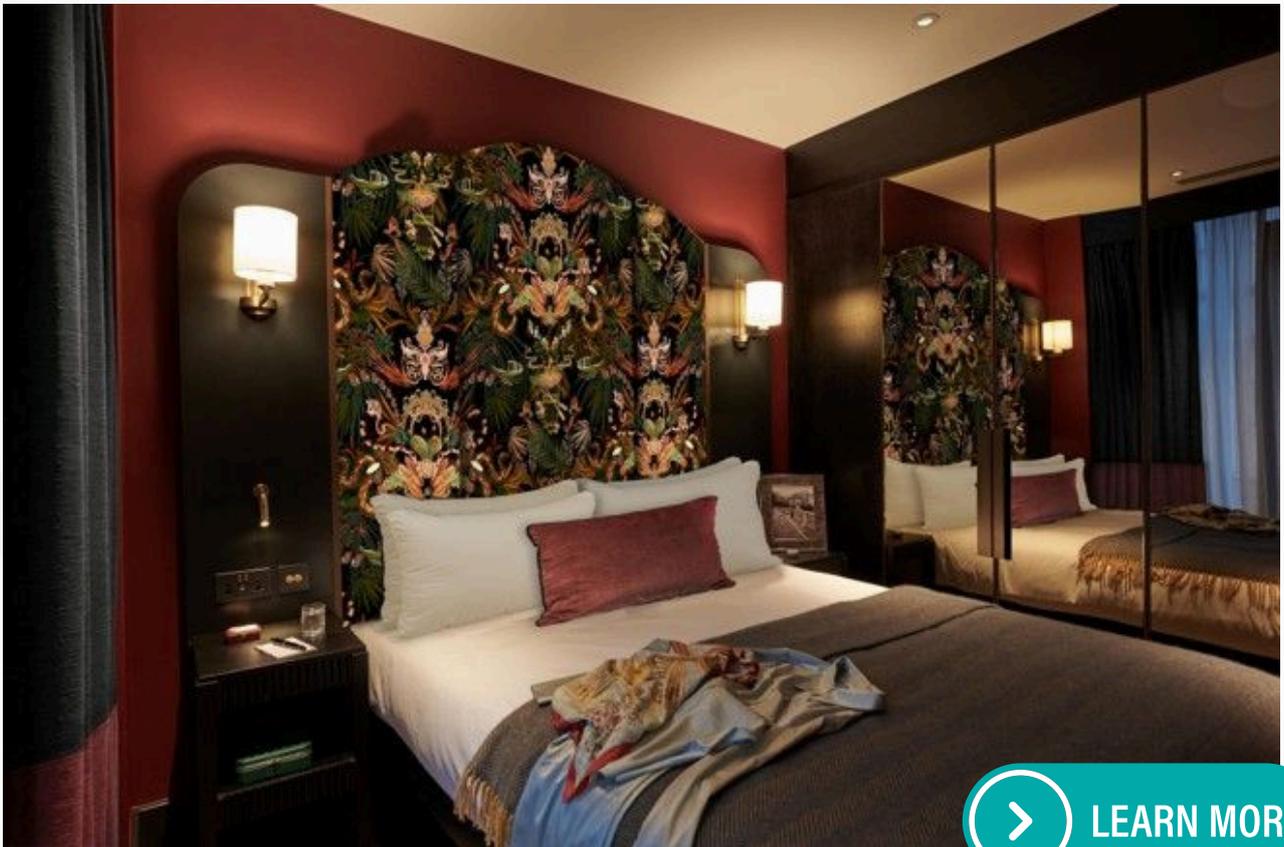

From South Kensington's wonderful cultural experiences to Covent Garden's historic and bohemian charm, each property is meticulously thought through to reflect the distinctive character and heritage of its surroundings, with sustainability underpinning all aspects of the development and operation of each site.

From receptions in Hogsmire beside the Vitality pool, through to private dinners and VIP stays in the courtyard through to fireside chats in the Keeping Room, the space lends itself tremendously to a variety of events and the team are always happy to explore new ideas.

What's new at The Other House?

Well the countdown is on for our Covent Garden opening! The club boasts Covent Garden's highest roof terrace, two stunning penthouses, state-of-the art wellbeing facilities and infinity pool and a variety of lounges and private dining spaces to host your event and clients' stay in central London.

We are also very pleased to celebrate the official launch of The Other House membership with our founding members, partners and press with a party - with celebrity DJs Denise van Outen and Woody Cook on the decks and entertainment until the early hours of the morning.
